WASHINGTON - Fourteen people were taken into custody this week on charges that they were part of a ring based out of an automotive repair shop that distributed cocaine and marijuana in the Washington D.C. area and other parts of the nation, announced U.S. Attorney Ronald C. Machen Jr., James W. McJunkin, Assistant Director in Charge of the FBI's Washington Field Office, and Cathy L. Lanier, Chief of the Metropolitan Police Department.

The arrests took place on December 5 and December 6, 2010 in the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, Texas and West Virginia. In addition, in two days of coordinated law enforcement actions concluding today, authorities conducted searches in those locations, as well as in North Carolina. Narcotics, weapons and vehicles were seized at the various locations.

The defendants include: Jaime Cesar Medina-Medina, 33, of Fort Washington, Md.; his wife, Wendy May Medina, 24, and his cousin, Humberto M. Moreno-Ordonez, 18, of Martinsburg, W. Va.; James Edward Pace, 34, of Clinton, Md.; Mario Edgar Santana, 23, of Anaheim, Calif., and Arvin Thomas Wiley, 34, of Clinton, Md.

All are charged with conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute and to distribute five kilograms or more of cocaine and marijuana. Jaime Cesar Medina-Medina also is charged with two counts each of unlawful distribution of marijuana and unlawful distribution of cocaine.

According to the indictment, which was unsealed this week in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, the drug activities took place this year in the District of Columbia, the states of Maryland, North Carolina, Texas, West Virginia, and elsewhere.
